According to various conferences at the headquarters of the VEB Ing Tiefbau Brandenburg, improvement work at Alt Loennewitz airfield, which is also referred to as the Falkenberg Project, would not start in the near future. The required funds have not yet been allotted and probably will not be allotted very soon. It was originally planned to immediately employ the free workers from Gross Doelln airfield for the Falkenberg construction site. Since work had not started there, these workers remained unemployed during the frost period.
